Ongoing Transition Toward Cleaner Energy

Climate Transition and Our Business

MGE Energy is investing in renewable generation and innovative energy solutions to advance portfolio sustainability while improving grid resilience and maintaining energy affordability. The company continues to work toward its sustainability goals cost-effectively.

Strategies for Deep Decarbonization

- Grow MGE's use of renewable energy
- Further engage customers in energy efficiency through optional programs (i.e., MGE Connect, Charge Ahead)
- Electrify transportation and other end uses

Ongoing Transition Away from Coal

- Enhancing fuel flexibility at Elm Road Generating Station
 - Elm Road units are expected to be fully transitioned away from coal by end of 2032
- Exploring converting the Columbia Energy Center from coal to natural gas
 - Repowering would eliminate coal-fired generation from MGE's portfolio of owned resources

The infographic is a vertical rectangle with a dark green border. It contains three distinct sections, each with a green icon, a year, and a goal. The top section features a leaf icon, the year '2050', and the text 'Net-zero carbon electricity'. The middle section features a flame icon, the year '2035', and the text 'Net-zero methane'. The bottom section features a plug and lightning bolt icon, the year '2030', and the text '100% all-electric or plug-in hybrid light-duty vehicles'.

Natural Gas Distribution – Emissions Reductions Beyond Carbon

Building upon our long-standing commitment to providing affordable, sustainable energy, MGE has set a goal to achieve net-zero methane emissions from its natural gas distribution system by 2035.

- MGE is working to reduce overall emissions from its natural gas distribution system cost-effectively as quickly as possible.
- If MGE can accelerate plans to achieve net-zero methane emissions from its natural gas system through the evolution of new technologies, it will.

Natural gas continues to be a critical resource for meeting reliable, efficient and affordable energy needs. About half of U.S. households use natural gas for heating.

- In 2022, MGE completed an in-depth analysis and inventory of GHG emissions associated with the purchase and distribution of natural gas and other sources, such as indirect emissions from gas usage by our customers.
- MGE has replaced and upgraded all piping made of material considered leak-prone throughout its distribution system.
- MGE's leak inspection schedule already exceeds federal requirements.
